

MISSION

We share the Earth with other plants, animals and 7 billion people! Imagine everything you do in a day multiplied by 7 billion. It can really take its toll on the Earth, for good or bad. How “nature wise” are you in your daily actions? Do you climb, hike or play outdoors regularly? Do you turn off the faucet and lights and unplug chargers and appliances—even yourself? Do you ride, bike or walk to destinations? In this Quest, test how nature wise you are. The more nature wise you are or become, the more you can collect and keep treasures.

- Complete the Quest.
- Venture on a hike or play in nature exploring some of the immediate actions you can take to be more nature wise.

-  Do you need any special powers to complete the actions?
-  Do you need other players to complete the actions?
-  How might you keep yourself accountable for your actions?
Could you lose or gain power or fuel levels?
Could you reward yourself with more outdoor adventures?

QUEST

1

Collect 10 treasures from nature.

2

Gather in a circle with the other players.

3

Designate a leader to read the following questions. For each question, collect a treasure from nature if your response is YES or pay a treasure to the leader if your response is NO.

Have you played outdoors in the last 24 hours? Today counts!

Have you climbed a tree in the last month?

Have you visited a creek, river or lake in the last month?

Do you save water by taking showers instead of baths?

Do you turn off the water when you brush your teeth?

Have you planted a seed, seedling or tree in the last month?

Have you walked or ridden a bike somewhere in the last week?

Do you recycle more things than you throw away each week?

Have you picked up any litter that is not your own in the last month?

Do you turn off the lights when you leave a room?

4

Count the number of treasures you collected.

Who has the most treasures?

How could you add to your treasure trove?
